Art Unit: 1732

1.The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-7, 10, 11 and 13-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Nishimura et al (see passages noted in the first action, in particular col. 61, lines 55-63).

The decomposition and diffusion of sufficient quantities of uncured monomer to form an index contrast region is taught at column 61, lines 55-63. In particular, the optical waveguide upper and lower clad layers contain a “slightly generated acid” which acts as the diffusion source region and diffuses at the interface between the core and upper clad and core and lower clad layers, thereby forming a refractive index distribution.

2.The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nishimura et al for reasons of record as set forth in paragraph 3 of the previous action.

3.Applicant's arguments filed April 14, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant submits that Nishimura et al simply decomposes and volatizes , but shows no diffusion. As pointed out in paragraph 1, supra, such is believed to be in error. While there may be differences in the instant invention and that shown in Nishimura et al, it is respectfully submitted that these have yet to be recited.

4.THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
